

An International Insurance Company with offices in more than 100 countries, is looking for an experienced Ship's Captain to join their Marine team.

Title - Marine Loss Control Engineer

Area - Johannesburg

Salary – Between R850k and R950k per annum – Total Cost to Company; includes M/Aid and P/Fund.

Purpose of the Role

Develop effective Loss Prevention programs, persuading clients and brokers to take appropriate measures to safeguard cargo in transit.

Attract new business through marketing and sales initiatives with Marine Managers and brokers, selling the advantages of the Company Marine Loss Control services to targeted clients. Manage and grow allocated Marine portfolio for Johannesburg region incorporating accurate and efficient underwriting principles.

Key Areas of Responsibility

Keep Regional Marine Personnel up to date on relevant Loss Prevention information and services

Ensure local and Regional Marine staff has current information regarding loss exposures, high-risk cargo, marine facilities, regional port and transportation conditions etc

Qualifications:

Marine Industry qualifications: Marine insurance; Master Mariner qualification; Certified Marine surveyor

&/or

Insurance Industry qualifications - ACII or studying towards preferable; Marine Underwriting and Claims attended (preferable)

Experience:

Ship's Captain

Practical working knowledge of and experience in the maritime / shipping / logistics industries (preferable within the African market), especially seaport operations and inland transportation of cargo.

7 – 10 years marine broking / underwriting experience. Marine Cargo Underwriting experience would be advantageous

5 years working experience in an insurance/Marine environment would be advantageous

Please forward your CV to: roshael@gratech.co.za or call me directly to discuss this position in more detail.